

The ABCs of Thanksgiving Dinner

By Raymond Bottom

Anunts and Uncles, the whole family crew,
By now are arriving as they always do.
Coming from all directions – north, South, west, east –
Delighted to join in the family feast.
Everyone is bringing their special treat,
Food so delicious one can't wait to eat.
Greetings and kisses, and hugs for each one.
Holiday spirit makes Thanksgiving fun.
In the midst of the laughter there may be a tear
Just thinking of those who can't be here.
Kick it in gear! Let the feast begin!

Launch into that turkey, or even roast hen.
Mom has prepared them:::; her cooking is great.
Now everyone can start loading a plate.
Outside it has just started to snow.....
Perfect accompaniment for our Thanksgiving glow.
Queue up little ones and fill your plate.
Ready to eat with Grandma Kate?

Settle down, everyone, Until Grandpa Nunn
Thanks God for his blessings and all He has done.
Unsparing effort has made this magnificent dinner
Very perfect for all tastes – a blue ribbon winner.
When everyone declares, "I can't eat any more,"
Exciting games are ready for young; Elders want to snore.
Yes, this was as wonderful as dinners in the past,
Zenith of meals and memories that last.
